

ROUNDTrip San Diego

The cool Californian city of San Diego bookends this voyage along the coast of Mexico. We've a couple of days at sea to start our journey, so make the most of your sumptuous surroundings as we sail south across the Pacific. Once over the border in Mexico, our first stop is Topolobampo, where you can venture on the railroad to Copper Canyon or just relax on the beach. A day at sea brings us to Guaymas, for white-sand beaches and dramatic volcanic peaks. We move on to the seaside town of La Paz. From here, take a boat trip to the desert islands in the UNESCO biosphere reserve, watching out for dolphins and sea lions as you go. Nature-lovers will be wowed by Isla Natividad, too, a haven for gulls, cormorants and shearwaters, where elephant seals bask on its beaches. It will provide you with just one of many stories to take home with you when we disembark at San Diego.
