

CARTAGENA TO FORT LAUDERDALE

An overnight stay in Cartagena, the lively Colombian city with an old colonial heart, begins this captivating 10-night cruise around the Caribbean coast of Central America. Our first stop is Colón, at the mouth of the famed Panama Canal, where you can find out about the famous waterway. Next, Puerto Limón is a jump-off point for some of Costa Rica’s fine beaches with a laidback vibe, and a relaxing sea day delivers us to Honduras, where the sapphire waters of Roatán Island are home to the world’s second-largest coral reef. At Santo Tomas in Guatemala, a nature walk to a waterfall is one of the options, and at Belize City, there is history to explore and an excellent museum. Our penultimate stop, Cozumel in Mexico, offers the chance to see spectacular Mayan ruins. One last relaxing day at sea delivers us to our last port of call, vibrant Fort Lauderdale in Florida.
